

Business Need & Strategic Case

Why Oakwood is expanding into the boutique hotel market

STRATEGIC CASE

- Rising demand for boutique stays in suburban lifestyle areas
- Strengthens competitive position vs. rivals already moving in
- Opens new revenue from an underserved guest segment
- Extends Oakwood's brand into new precincts
- Diversifies accommodation & improves accessibility

WORKFORCE IMPACT

180 rooms & apartments

Housekeeping, reception & maintenance

Cashless operation

Payment-trained reception, finance & IT

Meeting rooms & 24-hr security

Event staff + outsourced security roster

24-hr reception

Receptionists, duty managers, night auditors

Restaurant, bar & room service

Service staff, bartenders, kitchen team

Unstaffed fitness room & apartments

Maintenance, cleaning & appliance checks

Key message: a strategic move into a growing market segment, aligned with Oakwood's mission of personalised guest experiences.

Customer-Service Strategy

A practical guest-experience plan for the proposed Oakwood boutique branch

SERVICE MODEL

3

core pillars of guest experience

Guest Expectations

Service Delivery

Accessibility

READINESS PRIORITIES

- Personal, tailored service — not transactional check-in
- Small, cross-trained front-of-house team
- Inclusive physical spaces & booking channels
- Feedback loop: post-stay surveys & staff debriefs
- Digital check-in to reduce friction, human touch kept where it matters

KEY RISKS & CONTINGENCY

(shared item — my angle)

Risk

Inconsistent guest experience during ramp-up with a new team on a new property.

Contingency

Structured induction & shadowing period before opening, so service is consistent from day one.

Goal: consistent, personal service from day one

Message to stakeholders: the branch should feel like a flagship example of Oakwood's personalised, boutique hospitality.